The sewer mess

Sewer fees to double, and double again to pay cost of repair; town meeting set

The Bethel Board of Selectmen Monday night set Thursday, Sept. 21, as the date for a special town meeting to authorize borrowing more money to repair the town's ailing sewer plant. The vote to go back to the voters for more borrowing authority was 4-0. (Selectman Peter Haines was not present.)

While the exact dollar figure that will be placed on the warrant article had not yet been decided upon, the town manager told the selectmen that it would be in the neighborhood of $400,000. This would be nearly double the $200,000 voters decided to borrow earlier this year for sewer plant repairs.

As reported in The Citizen two weeks ago, Town Manager Rodney Lynch blamed the Town's engineering consultants for leading him astray on how much the sewer plant upgrade work would cost. He had budgeted, on the advice of the consultants, $300,000-$400,000 for the work itself—plus additional monies for the consultants—for a grand total of $400,000, which loan the town has already applied for from the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA).

When Mr. Lynch opened the construction bids two weeks ago, he was surprised to see that the lowest bid was over $800,000, while the highest was over $800,000. Last Tuesday night he reported to the board the sad news.

It was, he said, "a crisis situation," especially so since the majority of town residents have been unwilling to bear any of the burden of the sewer plant repairs. While Town Meeting (that is, the legislative body of the Town) approves the borrowings, it is only the sewer rate-payers who pay for the loans.

Two years ago, the 422 rate-payers were paying $20 per 1,000 cubic feet of sewerage. Presently they are paying $38

Bethel officials want more money for industrial park

Bethel voters will be asked to approve funding up to $50,000 in additional work at the airport industrial park. The question will be put on the warrant for the special town meeting scheduled for Sept. 21.

The Board of Selectmen voted last Tuesday night, 3-0, to put the matter before the voters. If the allocation of funds is not approved, the state Department of Environmental Protection seems likely to refuse to issue a permit for the industrial park subdivision.

Town Manager Rodney Lynch told the selectmen that the DEP staff has declined to consider the application for the permit until town officials present an indication of financial commitment to complete the industrial park if the state approves it. Although town officials presented a letter of financial capacity with their application for a permit, the DEP staff wants a Town Meeting vote.

The $50,000 the selectmen seek would cover such costs as water main extensions throughout the subdivision (estimated cost $25,000), a gravel road (estimated $11,000), pavement ($11,000), hydrant ($2,500), and infiltration basin ($1,000).

ALONE AT LAST—The shadows are stretching as the late summer sun begins to trace a lower route across the sky. Here and there a few early-bird branches are already changing color, and the lakes are again left to the fishermen.

Bethel takes first step towards recycling trash

The Bethel Board of Selectmen Monday night decided to take a first, tentative step towards recycling some of the town's annual accumulation of 2,300 tons of solid waste. The board (minus the absent Peter Haines) voted, 3-1, to rent a recycling container to likely be placed at the landfill. The cost would be $5 a week for the container, plus $70 each time it's hauled away. The container would be the property of the B.A.R. Corp., which runs the transfer station in Oxford.

The dissenting voice on Selectwoman Pat Doon's motion for the one container at the landfill was Selectman Arthur Gilbert. "I don't think that's a workable solution," he said.

The proposal put forward by Mr. Gilbert, and favored by Robin Lee of the Solid Waste Committee, was to rent two containers and locate them in town, pro-

11th-graders lag on statewide test

Just-released results of the Maine Educational Assessment testing of last year's 11th Grade at Telstar were presented to the SAD #44 Board of Directors Monday night. The results were, in the words of High School Principal Ted Davis, "not impressive."

In fact, in all six content areas on the test, the results were the worst of any of the junior classes who have taken the test at Telstar over the past four years. The Telstar scores were also well below the scores for juniors statewide.

The results are even more disappointing because this test marked the first time since the introduction of the Maine Educational Assessment that the progress of a particular class could be followed over the course of a number of years.

Since the 1985-86 school year, the state assessment has been given yearly to 4th, 8th- and 11th-graders. Thus, last year's juniors (this year's senior class) also took the test as 8th-graders in 1985-86.

The class did not do especially well on that test, but their comparable 11th-grade results are even weaker—which would apparently indicate that in the years between the two tests, the students' level of achievement deteriorated seriously relative to that of their peers statewide.

In presenting the results to the board, Principal Davis noted that the class in question has consistently scored at the lower end of academic aptitude and achievement tests. He also pointed to problems with poor attendance and attitude among the class.

Board members asked few questions about the results but agreed to take the matter up again at their next board meeting, by which time they will have had an opportunity to review the results more closely.

(In next week's issue, the Citizen will also look more closely at the 11th Grade results.)

In other action at Monday's meeting, the board approved the following appointments of substitute personnel: Barbara J. (Barrett) Kelly, Jane Francis, George Gibbs, Arlene Greenleaf, Pamela Hebert, Jayne Leonard, Kristine Mclon, Melinda Remington, Mary Richardson, Sally Rollinson, Kay Stahl, Gail Sysko and Anna Thurston.

The following extra-curricular appointments and stipends were also approved: Sue J. Howe, middle school cross country coach ($495); Stanley Moore, middle school assistant soccer coach ($590); James Lunney, middle school Student Council advisor ($500); Barbara Dunham, Crescent Park School soccer coach ($380); Daniel Hart, National Honor Society advisor ($780); Linda Olson, high school Student Council advisor ($300); Earl Lemoreau, high school math league advisor ($414); Steve Keane, high school senior class advisor ($600); Charles Raymond, high school junior class advisor ($300).

Prior to the meeting, Superintendent Dwayne Craig thanked Mrs. Hope Tibbitts and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Denison, of Bethel, for generous donations of clothing, boots and shoes to the district's Outward Bound.

'There's a lot of opposition, primarily from people who own the most property.'

Tim Kavanagh, Albany resident

By re-incorporating as a town, Albany would put control of local affairs back in the hands of local people. But it is a step most people in Albany view with great reluctance, since it would almost inevitably mean paying higher taxes to support local government.

"My personal feeling is that it's going to come, I'm afraid," said Dave Salway. "With more and more state rules regarding things like dumps and roads, the time is going to come when we're going to want a more direct say in how they're applied here."

But despite the lack of local control, many in town would rather keep things the way they are. "There's been talk of re-incorporating over the last couple of years," said Tim Kavanagh, president of the Albany Improvement Association, "but there's a lot of opposition, primarily from people who own the most property." The prospect of higher taxes accounts for much of the opposition, Mr. Kavanagh said, and some people simply resist the idea of any kind of change.

The state agency most heavily involved in town affairs in recent years has been the Land Use Regulation Commission, which acts as the planning board for the unorganized territories.

LURC Commissioner Steve Wight, for one, thinks it's time for Albany residents to shoulder this responsibility for themselves. "It's my personal crusade to get them to at least think about it," he said.

'It's my personal crusade to get them to at least think about [reincorporating].'

LURC Commissioner Steve Wight

"The feeling of the traditional residents is 'never incorporate,'" Mr. Wight acknowledged, "but I think a large number of them are beginning to change their minds. They realize that if they want to control their own destiny they've got to get out from under us."

While Albany is technically part of the generally underpopulated unorganized territories, it is close enough to population centers that it has experienced strong development pressure. But until recently, much of the development ac-

Bethel landfill hours shortened by three

No one from the public (except the reporter from The Citizen) showed up for the public hearing on amendments to Bethel's landfill regulations last Tuesday. So with no discussion, the Board of Selectmen, by a 3-0 vote (Selectmen Haines and Doon absent), approved the amendments, as proposed by the town manager.

The changes in the regulations are as follows:

- Dump stickers, replacement stickers and temporary access permits will be issued only to those who pay the required fee of $2.
- Dump hours will be shortened and will be as follows: Monday, closed; Tuesday, closed; Wednesday, 12:30 p.m.; Thursday and Friday, closed; Saturday and Sunday, 10 a.m.-3 p.m. The new hours of operation, which have the landfill closing one hour earlier on Wednesdays and

Conservation Corps teams recognized for their work on area mountain trails

Governor John McKernan and Maine Department of Conservation Commissioner C. Edwin Meadows have recognized three Maine Conservation Corps (MCC) teams from western Maine for their work this summer at the Bureau of Public Land's Mahosuc Mountains Management Unit, the White Mountain National Forest and Grafton Notch State Park.

Corysmembers Mike Monzo, of Bethel, Ed Varnum, of Mexico, and Ed Dixon, of West Peru, supervised by team leader Michael Cooper, of Bethel, spent eight weeks this summer building a trail up Goose Eye Mountain in Riley township.

Steve Spencer, recreation specialist for the Bureau of Public Lands, said work will continue throughout the fall to open

Citizen wins 1st place for last winter's tabloid

In the 1989 Better Newspaper Contest, sponsored by the Maine Press Association, The Citizen took a first place among weeklies in the category of supplements for its 1988-89 winter recreation tabloid.

The award was announced during the MPA's annual convention banquet, last Saturday night, at the Samoset Resort, in Rockport.

The Citizen, one of the smaller weeklies in the state, competed against all other weeklies in the contest. There are 35 weekly papers in the Maine Press Association.

The Citizen also won a 3rd-place award in the category of advertising.

The Citizen was the only paper in Oxford County to win any awards. Other papers in western Maine receiving awards were the Bridgton News (which received seven awards) and the Farmington Journal (which received one award).

The Ellsworth American was judged the best weekly paper in the state. Among dailies, the Waterville Sentinel was judged the best paper in the state. Among weekend papers, Lewiston's Sunday was judged the best in the state.

WE'D LIKE YOU TO RESERVE THE WEEK OF SEPTEMBER 17th FOR A MIRACLE.

George Washington said its creation was "little short of a miracle." James Madison said, "It is impossible for the man of pious reflection not to perceive in it a finger of that Almighty hand," when describing the process that created it.

Washington and Madison were commenting on nothing less than the document that created our government: The Constitution of the United States. The Constitution is the foundation of our country and the means by which we achieve the rule of law and protect our freedom.

The week of September 17th is Constitution Week. Many libraries will have displays and information on this incredible document.

Why not take a look at it. After all, it isn't often you can hold a miracle in your hands.

Letters to the editor

To the Editor:

One way or another, high school education is an important part of everyone's life. Each student will utilize his/her education in a different way and different parts of each individual's education will have a real impact on their adult life. There are at this time two issues being discussed by ad hoc committees for presentation to the School Board. They are the grading system of physical education and the possibility of a weighted grading system for determining the class standing of students. (Which would not affect individual report cards or the honor roll.) I think it is important to remember that neither of these changes would be intended to belittle the courses which they would affect. Physical education is as important in its own way as algebra and the Nova Program will have as great an influence on someone's life as advanced placement English will on someone else's. The issue here is not importance. Nor is it how hard one student in one program worked compared to a student in the other program. It is the fact that you are dealing with different types of classes. Physical education is not an academic subject and should not be compared academically with the completion of pre-calculus?

I'm glad I don't have to make the decision.

GREENWOOD CLEANING DAY

The Greenwood Recreation Committee is having a clean up day at the Greenwood recreational field on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 17, from 1-4 p.m. All people who used the tennis court and those who participated (and parents of those) in the summer baseball teams and the men's softball teams are asked to please help. Please bring any rakes, shovels or weed cutters you may have. The rain date will be Sept. 24.

CORRECTIONS

In the Aug. 30 issue, the story on Little League Awards, Tony Baker should have been listed as MVP and Jason Hebert as most improved.

In the Sept. 6 issue, in the chart of approved development projects, Carl Hansen says the Laurel Jones project should be listed as Land Sall Inc., Carl Hansen. The management at the Bethel Opera House says there are two units still unsold.

DEADLINES

The deadline for most news items, town and club notes, reports of meetings, etc., is Saturday at noon. The deadline for photos is also Saturday noon.
The deadline for births, obituaries, letters to the editor and late news is Monday at noon.
Early submission of all materials is always appreciated, in order to avoid the close-to-deadline crush.

ple in 1860. But during the century that followed the population dropped steadily, reaching a low of 223 in 1960.

'I think they'd be very successful if they decided to become a town again.'

Norman Ferguson
Oxford County Commissioner

In the 1960s the trend reversed itself, and the township has grown slowly. Albany now has a population of approximately 300 once again, and in all likelihood it will continue to grow. In fact, the township already has more people than the incorporated towns of Hanover, Gilead or Upton.

But it remains to be seen if that growth, or subtle pressure from LURC, will lead to serious talk of re-incorporation. "I think a good majority is still against it," Mr. Salway said. "They're afraid it will just lead to a major increase in taxes."

'I think a good majority are still against it. They're afraid it will just lead to a major increase in taxes.'

David Salway, Albany resident

Mr. Kavanagh agrees with this assessment. "The majority of people are happy with the way things are—with the state taking care of us," he said. The 1988 tax rate for unorganized townships in Oxford County is $10.81 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

To the Editor:
The State of Maine is facing a problem which is apt to become serious unless some changes are made.

The regulatory agencies (the DEP and LURC) have ruled that natural substances such as dirt, sand, gravel and brush are pollutants. This is surprising because of certain well-known facts. The bed of every brook, river, lake and pond is composed almost entirely of dirt, sand and gravel. Broken tree limbs and leaves are also present in water in wooded areas. Heavy rains have carried these materials into the waterways since the dawn of time. The natural process will continue with or without human activity.

Vast quantities of these so-called "pollutants" are already in our waters. More will enter with each heavy rain. Banning all human activity in the fields and forests would cause a slight decrease in the volume of these "pollutants." How much would this benefit the environment? Would the benefits justify wrecking Maine's economy? The last question needs to be answered, and soon. The wrecking process has already begun. The agencies have imposed guidelines so strict that any normal logging operation can be found in violation. For example, any rain heavy enough to wash dirt from untouched forest land will also wash dirt from a logging site. This is called "unlicensed discharge of pollutants to the waters of the State." It is punishable by penalties of up to $10,000 for each day it occurs.

Any flood which damages public highways will also damage logging. The public highways receive federal funds to help repair the damage. The loggers receive threats of heavy fines.

The loggers are relatively few in number but their importance cannot be overstated. One of the largest industries in Maine cannot operate without the raw material supplied by logging. To severely restrict the flow of wood to the forest products industry would deal a devastating blow to the state's economy.

The number of loggers has declined by 40 percent since 1963. This is due to several factors, but the hostile regulatory climate has surely played a part. The mere threat of such heavy fines should convince many that there is no future in logging.

This problem originated in the executive branch and should be solved there. If the threat to the environment warrants such harsh penalties, all logging should be banned and the forest products industry written off. The only reasonable alternative would be to decriminalize logging. No individuals, even loggers, should be fined for events which are beyond their control.

My heart and mind spend more time in the Milton Plantation, Bryant's Pond, Locke's Mills and Bethel metropolises than does my physical body.

My unbridled cord to the area, its inhabitants and happenings is The Bethel Citizen.

Dismissing Alice Hoyt's weekly unofficial minutes of the Franklin Group meetings out of hand, I turn to Lorraine Mills' column of Locke's Mills (my possessive) to get a minimal feel of what is going on in the area.

In addition to the news contained therein, the presentation of her views of theology are always stated in a clear, logical and comprehensive manner, and, indeed, are identified as hers—rather than unsupported fact.

Why do we have a Bill of Rights?

by Leonard W. Levy

Why do we have a bill of rights? The answer represents a paradox in American constitutional theory. We are a self-governing people who believe in the democratic principle that the majority should rule; at the same time we understand that we must limit the power of the majority, keeping it bridle and bridled by constitutional restraints. Thus, we believe in self-government by majority rule and also in limitations on majority rule. This paradox is resolved when we realize that the purpose of both self-government by majority rule and of limitations upon majority rule is the same: to ensure our freedom.

We have a Bill of Rights because we know that man is free when government is not free. Government, even a democratic government, cannot be trusted. A Bill of Rights is a bill of restraints upon the government. The government, representing some momentary majority of the people, may yield to the pressures of the passing hour and take unwise liberties with the individual. Majorities sometimes suppress the rights of those who differ from or oppose them. The purpose of a Bill of Rights is to remove certain rights from political controversy, place them above and beyond the reach of majorities and officials, and establish them as fundamental legal principles.

By giving these rights constitutional status, we declare them to be rights that government cannot ignore or deny. Thus, one's rights to life, liberty, or property, to freedom of speech and press, to freedom of worship and assembly, to the equal protection of the laws, and other fundamental rights do not or should not depend upon the outcome of any election. So we enshrine the great ideals of liberty, equality and fairness in a Bill of Rights, and we entrust to a special body of guardians, the courts, the task of protecting these ideals.

We have established a system to safeguard our rights from overzealous patriots who lack understanding of democratic constitutionalism and offer us both quick solutions and national security at the expense of the very rights that keep us free. Through these rights we protect ourselves against the assaults of opportunism, the expediences of the moment, and the erosion of small encroachments. We protect ourselves, too, against the excesses of government and of those among us who are intolerant of different races, religions, or opinions.

Occasionally the majority in power at any moment may act foolishly with respect to our best interests, or tyrannically with respect to the rights of a minority. The Bill of Rights shields the minority from the majority by treating certain rights as fundamental and unalienable. To secure those rights, Jefferson said, government must be instituted among men, and we govern ourselves subject to the limitations laid down in the Bill of Rights.

The importance of the Bill of Rights for the maintenance of the civil liberties of all of us as individuals and as members of minority groups (we all are members of some minority) is apparent. More significant, and not so readily apparent, is the importance of civil liberties to our society as a whole, to all of us as part of the machinery of self-government. That is, the Bill of Rights not only imposes the ground rules by which the majority governs, but makes self-government itself possible.

Democracy as a form of government cannot work without protecting the personal dignity of individuals. It cannot work without also promoting a dangerous degree of freedom of expression for thought that we hate. Government of the people, by the people, and for the people is meaningful and possible only in a system that combines majority rule with civil liberties. Public policy is determined by the will of the majority, and that will can be made known only through the full exercise of the liberties of the Bill of Rights. This is why the Constitution intends that our liberties should endure undiminished.

NEWS FROM

Adult Education

SAD #44 Adult and Community Education will offer several classes this fall designed to enhance job skills for area adults.

Accounting I and II, Appleworks, keyboarding, office practice and photography are all included in the fall line-up. Accounting I covers the accounting cycle in its basic form and is a good place to start to gain or brush up skills, possibly prior to more advanced training at the college level. Accounting II continues the course and will be offered later in the year.

Appleworks is a computer use class, specific to the integrated software program of the same name used with Apple computers. The course will cover the word-processing, data base and spreadsheet functions of the program and how they function separately and together. Those taking the course on Thursday nights at Telstar must have had an introductory level course or have a basic working knowledge of Apple computers.

Keyboarding will be taught this fall by Jane Munn, currently on leave from the Telstar Regional High School business education department. This course will teach the keyboard and is useful for those who would like to improve their typing skills or to use the keyboard with a computer. The class will meet on Wednesdays.

Later the same evening, Ms. Munn will teach a class in office practice, using lecture, discussion and hands-on problem-solving, covering topics including organizing work, managing time, mail handling, phone skills, filing and human relations. Ms. Munn will attempt to tailor the topics to fit the needs of class members in becoming effective on the job.

Local newspapers offer an opportunity for part-time employment as correspondents and the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education program will offer a course in photo-journalism, including practical tips to improve both photography and writing skills. Gerry Schaefer will coordinate this course and plans to include some guest speakers from the media. The course will be on Thursdays.

To enroll in these, or any of the other fall term courses in SAD #44, call the Adult and Community Education office.

baby at the town garage. One container would be for materials that accumulate rapidly and would have to be hauled off frequently—such as newspapers, cardboard, milk cartons, clear glass. The other container would be for recyclables that accumulate slowly, such as brown glass and green glass.

While the Solid Waste Committee has had very limited success in getting residents to bring recyclable items—bottles and newspapers—to the landfill, Selectwoman Doen was against setting the recycling containers in town. "I'm all for putting some sort of container in town, but don't put a whole trailer at the garage," she said.

The action taken by the board was not viewed with great enthusiasm by that group, or by the Solid Waste Committee members attending the meeting or by the town manager. The latter thought the lack of landfill and incinerator space statewide, combined with the state mandate to recycle half of all household trash by 1994, combined with the collapse of the market for recycled products had put towns in a bind. "The State of Maine is in total, absolute crisis on solid waste," he said disheartened.

In other business at Monday night's meeting, the board spent nearly an hour discussing whether to lease land to one person to build a half-dozen hangars at the airport (and then sub-lease them), or whether to lease the land to individuals to build their own hangars, and how long to allow any hangar-owner to lease.

Ms. Doen said she was in favor of not denying anyone a chance to build his or her own hangar. Selectman John Thurston, on the other hand, said the board should give John Jones the go-ahead to build the half-dozen he proposes.

Mr. Gilbert said whatever scheme was selected, the hangars should revert back to the town after 20 years. But Mr. Thurston was of the opinion that developer Jones would be unwilling to build hangars for sub-lease if he were to have to give them to the town after 20 years.

The board decided to ask the Airport Advisory Committee for advice, based on what is being done at other small airports faced by the same issue of how to develop private hangars on public land.

All school board members were present for Monday evening's meeting, as were high school Student Council representatives Gina Morgan and Becky Hunt.

raised an additional $8,000 at a special town meeting held shortly after the regular town meeting in March. "It was totally illegal," he said of the procedure by which the money was raised.

He also complained that the current selectmen have refused to allow him to review the town's complete financial records.

Another special town meeting has been tentatively scheduled for Tuesday evening, Sept. 19. The only item currently on the warrant for the meeting is the election of a selectman to fill the remaining term of Pat Lewit, who was elected to the board in March but recently resigned.

Her resignation marks the third time since the 1987 town meeting that a selectman has left the board before completing his or her term.

By CONSTANCE BROADBENT

Dear Dot (Slamin Hill),
I'm writing to offer my services to your famous American Legion Band. I've been marching down the road each morning now for a couple of months, and I figure I'd make a decent drum major, or at least a decoy-non-playing trumpeter when one of your worthy musicians fails to show for a parade, or when my decoy-non-playing trumpeter brother Tom can't fill the slot.

As I traverse the rural roads in search of fitness (John Philip Sousa sounds blasting out of my strapped-on Walkman), my parade route takes me past more houses than houses, more cows than cars, rows of cheering bobolinks and bluejays, and an occasional neighbor. I salute a few semi-retired octogenarians (I say semi-retired because their gardens are much bigger than mine, their fields are still mown, and their trucks are still registered), but I don't stop to chat; the music and the meter urge me on.

While I'm out galvanizing my gluteus maximus, what are the others doing, you ask? They're hiking mountain trails, fishing, entertaining guests from far off places, just enjoying the good life in great gulps.

The Flat Road alone was teeming with end-of-summer guests recently. Richard and Patricia Hesterman of Weston, Mass., spent a few days with his parents, Dick and Jane, and vacated the beds in time for his sister, Sue Smith of Scituate (try that one three times fast!) to take her turn in the company of her son, Peter. On a tour of North Conway, young Peter enjoyed (after a fashion) his first train ride on the scenic railway.

Next door at the Gilberts', Arthur and Ruth were entertaining Robert and Barbara Parker of South Portland. The highlight of that visit was a trip to East Colebrook, N.H., to participate in Dennis Hyde's sixteenth annual pig roast. The porcine proffering included 100 pounds of "Porky" and sufficient "fixins" to satiate about 100 guests.

Up the road at the Merrill farm, the martini went on for days. Alfred and Margaret welcomed their daughter, June and her husband, Roscoe Staples from Stevens Point, Wis., for a two week visit. They were joined over the holiday weekend by daughter Becky Staples Walcott of Albany, N.Y. The family (including visiting grandson, Rusty Merrill of Chattanooga, Tenn.) moved from Merrill place to Merrill place in a continuous round of merry-making. During the visit they did a lot of fishing and feasting and even found time to spend with Connecticut visitors and long-time friends, Linda and Dan Jensen and their young daughter, Alfred and Margaret were last seen resting on their favorite porch perches, trying to muster up the energy to walk the dog!

Further out "the Flat", there was lots of activity as the Vautours welcomed Carolyn and Mike Tetlow, Alison Tyler and Nigel Barnshaw from jolly old England. Nigel and Carolyn are son and daughter of Mavis and John Barnshaw who dropped out of the sky and into the pool at this time last year. The foursome had toured New England and New York and were winding their way back to Boston via Bethel. They spent an enjoyable few days entertaining themselves and their hosts and left with a promise to show us their whole country (only slightly larger than Maine!) when we make our way to "the other side of the pond."

That visit was immediately followed by one from Doug Vautour and Margaret Sparks. In celebration of summer's closing, the Walthamites fished, swam, hiked and ran the roads, as they geared up for new fall enterprises. And while enjoying the bucolic beauty, the pair added a moose, a beaver, one coyote and one bear to their list of first-time sightings!

You can see that life here in the foothills is just a bit removed from life in the city. When we feel the need of change, we climb a mountain, as did the Grover party of five this past week. Ted and Gertrude, Rupert and Ina (all Grovers) and Don Vautour trooped off single file in search of serenity and scenic vistas from Caribou Mountain-top. They met with resistance the overgrowth at every turn on the chosen trail only to discover that the summit was enshrouded with haze!

Meanwhile, Linda Westleigh and Connie Vautour went off on their own search toward Portland, enjoying immediate satisfaction at the first "shoppe" assaulted along the way, reviving in their success over lunch at the Old Port, and returning victorious with their "booty" in the trunk.

It's a uniquely busy life up here, Dot. We are harvesting our veggies, changing gear for the fall, preparing for the upcoming Grange Fair. (Be here on Sept. 16 for a taste of treasures and treats!) Some folks are anticipating a special class reunion at month's end; we're off to Connecticut for a wedding (the recent Portland purchases will be shown off at these affairs.)

I'm off to "hit the road" again—the abdominals must be absolutely flat in the new frock. Try to escape from your busy life of music and marching. We'd be pleased to have you meet our mountains. (I don't think that we can accommodate the entire herd, but there are lots of nice places nearby!)

Meanwhile, tell Commander Neville, a/k/a brother Tom, that we really enjoyed his visit. He'll tell you all about Bethel, now that he knows that it is indeed south of Greenland.

I must march myself into a size six—catch you later—perhaps you could send up an old baton?

Love, C.B.

Gould Performing Arts announces 1989-90 events

From Russian folklore-based drama to tales and visions of Antarctic adventure, the 1989-90 Gould Performing Arts Series offers a taste of art and culture from around the continent and the world.

The series has been popular with local audiences for a number of years, and all performances are open to the public. To improve funding eligibility for arts grants and to maintain the high calibre of visiting artists, beginning this year there will be a $2 admission fee for adults and $1 for students 18 and under. All shows begin at 7:30 in Bingham Hall on the Gould Academy campus.

The first program is "Dark Tales," which will take place Thursday, Sept. 28, at 7:30 p.m., as Lee Faulkner & Co. perform a classic mime act enhanced by shadow imagery and magic. Faulkner is the new artistic director of the Celebration Barn Theater in South Paris and has performed in theaters, schools, cabarets and festivals in the United States and abroad. Other performances are Thursday, Nov. 9, "Antarctica"—a lecture and slide show by Alan Campbell; Thursday, Nov. 16, "The Laurentian String Quartet" in concert; Thursday, Jan. 11, "Sarvis Bert & Jones"—lyric, modern dance and raucous physical theater; Thursday, Feb. 1, "Firebird"—based on the Stravinsky ballet and Russian folklore and performed by the Bennington Puppets; Thursday, April 12, "As the Wind Rocks the Wagon"—Living literature performs stories of the Oregon Trail; Thursday, May 3, "Atlantic Clarion Steel Band"—a true steel band performing music from calypso to classical.

For more information on the series, please contact Vicki Rachliffe or Marquerite Graham at 824-2161.

Regional Arts Program will offer visual arts and creative writing

Planning has begun for the second year of the Regional Arts Talent Program offered by local school districts, SAD #21, SAD #43 and SAD #44. At a recent steering committee meeting held at Dirigo High School, plans were finalized for the visual arts program and the creative writing program.

The visual arts program is taught by Alan Bray, of Dover-Foxcroft. Mr. Bray is a highly respected artist-teacher, educated at the Art Institute of Boston, the University of Southern Maine and the Villa Schifanoia in Florence, Italy. He also teaches in the Piscataquis area regional arts program.

Twenty high school students receive a full day of instruction, one a day a month for eight months. In May, the students prepare a touring arts display that is shown in Bethel, Rumford and Dixfield.

The 20 students represent the most gifted of the arts students from Mountain Valley, Telstar and Dirigo High School. Art teachers involved in planning the program are Bonnie Clark, Dirigo; Tim Kavanagh, Telstar; and Chris Cylak, Mountain Valley.

A new program is being added this year—writing. Ms. Lee Sharkey, of South China, is a published author, college instructor at the University of Maine, Augusta and Unity College and graduate of Brandeis University and Boston University. Students will write, analyze their own work and study style and technique used by other writers. Writing teachers overseeing the program are Suzanne Taylor, Telstar; Lowell Libby, Dirigo; and Dot Peters, Mountain Valley High School.

Information about the program is being distributed at the high schools. For further information contact Michael Moore, principal, Dirigo High School, 562-4251.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Bartlett, of Berlin, were recent visitors at the Bartlett home.

Mrs. Jo Tyler, of Dixfield, Mrs. Chidi Cox and Miss Chick Fritz Morris visited me Sept. 5 to play cards.

As there isn't much news this week, I'll tell about the surprise I got when we went down to Brunswick to see the show "Nunsense." In the middle of the show four of the nuns came to the front of the stage and said they had a special song to sing to one of their sisters, who had a birthday. Myra Foster, in the front row. So they asked the audience to sing "Happy Birthday" to me. Then the lady, Mary Stout, who played the Mother Superior in the play came and wanted to know what all the noise was about. When she received an answer she came to the front of the stage and said, "I'm keeping my eye on you and that young chap beside you. Paul, meet Myra and Myra meet Paul. Now behave, yourselves, you hear." Everyone thought that was hilarious. And so the show went on. I do appreciate their incorporating my birthday into their show. I believe it was at the instigation of the music director, John Micallef.

Did many of you receive a frost last week? We covered our tomatoes and melons up one night but fortunately there was fog the next morning. It seems to me to have been a poor summer mostly. No blueberries or raspberries in our part of the town. I guess the birds got lots of the blackberries. Glad we didn't have a bear running around the fields and town here as they have in other places. It's bad enough to have the raccoons and skunks raiding the corn. Have a good day and per 1,000 cubic feet, and—if the upcoming special town meeting approves the additional borrowing—the ratepayers will be paying $42 next year and $87 in 1994.

Board of Selectmen Chairman Arlan Jodrey warned that the current stopgap upgrade work—necessitated because of the state taking the town to task for an inefficient sewer plant—is just the tip of the iceberg. The state Department of Environmental Protection is also insisting that the town upgrade its leaking sewer lines faster than it has been doing, which is expected to cost at least as much as the sewer plant repairs. "We're going to be talking millions of dollars," Mr. Jodrey warned.

And, he said, it seemed unfair that the rate-payers would be the ones saddled with all the expenses. "We're just starting on this borrowing," he said, "and I have real reservations with it all being on the users."

Mr. Jodrey has expressed these views before and has never received support from the majority of the board, let alone a majority of voters. The common view has been that the sewer is the responsibility of the village residents only.

Mr. Lynch said he would try finding some grant money to ease the burden on the rate-payers, but he was not optimistic. He noted that Bethel has, in the past, been unable to get federal or state block grants because no area of town is downgraded enough to qualify. "It pays to be poor in Maine when it comes to getting state and federal funds," he commented.

Mr. Lynch told the board that his calculations on how much additional money was needed for the immediate sewer plant repair (which he hopes to have done by next year) did not include any money for a state fine. The DEP and the attorney general's office has ordered Bethel to pay a fine of $3,000 for polluting the Androscoggin River with sewer waste that is either poorly treated or completely untreated.

Town officials and their consultants are trying to negotiate this fine down to a more palatable level. They are also trying to have the DEP ease its restrictions on sewer hook-ups while the sewer plant is being repaired.

The selectmen and town manager went behind closed doors with the town counsel, Geoff Hole, to discuss the ongoing negotiations with DEP away from the ears of the press.

Legion Auxiliary meets

Sept. 7 was the first meeting of the new season for the Jackson-Silver Auxiliary Unit. The annual picnic was held on Aug. 17, but there was no meeting at that time.

This was the first opportunity for the State Convention delegate to show the other members the certificates and awards which were received on their behalf while at the convention in June. Among these were: a framed certificate of thanks from the National Camps for Blind Children for contributions in memory of Wilma Warner, Past County Council President who died in office; both state and national membership citations; a certificate in recognition of contributions to Special Olympics; an outstanding service award from the director of the Veteran's Administration facility at Togus; and the state music award.

This marks several years in a row in which the Unit has won this award over all other American Legion Auxiliary units in Maine.

This Wednesday, Sept. 13, the unit will be having the Bethel Senior Citizens' dinner at the hall in Locke Mills, not at the Bethel Legion Hall as has been previously announced.

On Oct. 5 there will be a program on England at 7 p.m. with the meeting to follow. Each year the American Legion Auxiliary picks a country to study in depth as a way of promoting understanding and fostering good foreign relations. This year that country is England.

Oct. 19 will be the annual membership supper at 6:30 p.m. The unit will also honor the young people who attended the Girls' and Boys' State programs last June. They and their families are invited to attend the supper and the young people will be asked to report on their experiences and impressions while participating in this program. It is expected that some of the directors of Girls' State and other department officers will be present.

The application for membership of Medora Hathaway was presented and accepted.

For the first time this year the National Organization has sent out direct dues notices to each senior member. It has promised a good number of members to pay their dues early. Second notices will be sent out in January. If by chance a member has not received a dues notice, she can still submit her dues as in the past. It is not mandatory that one have the slips that were sent out in order to pay dues.

The next meeting will be Sept. 21 at 7 p.m.

week, everyone.

The team consisting of team leader Bruce Meizner, of Bethel, and corpsmember Kevin Sweet, of Rumford, helped rebuild the Moose Cave Trail at Grafton Notch State Park.

Kay Zimmer of Bethel, supervised a crew in the White Mountain National Forest. Returning as an MCC team leader for the third year, Mrs. Zimmer led her crew—Susan McKenna of Bryant Pond, Ray DeRoche of Rumford and Tony Hart of Bethel—clearing trails, assembling picnic tables and opening areas for wildlife habitats.

The Bethel area projects were three of 25 MCC conservation projects taking place in Maine this summer, and at Yellowstone National Park. Corpsmembers statewide provide natural resource agencies and other non-profit and managing organizations extra help where needed to maintain and improve natural resource areas for the benefit of the public.

In addition to employment, corpsmembers, hired through Mountain Valley Training, which administers the Federal Job Training Partnership Act, receive job training and conservation education. The MCC will have several projects this fall in various locations statewide, including a project in the White Mountain National Forest beginning in October. For more information about employment opportunities, call Mountain Valley Training, at 364-9738, or the MCC, at 289-4931.

Bear hunters are about and report success.

Margaret Mitchell entertained her sister, Tullio Grundy of Sebago Lake, and her brother and sister-in-law, Walter and Felicia Griffin of Westbrook, Sunday, Sept. 3. Mrs. Grundy brought a strawberry birthday cake in honor of Margaret's birthday (29th). Solomon and Glenn Gay were also guests.

Mark Vail of Salt Lake City and his father, Emory, of Newry called on the Berniers one day last week.

Dweller Hill has been thickly padded with a fine gravel or sand. Residents here are apprehensive concerning the staying quality of this road base. Time will show the facts.

The planning board met on Labor Day evening, but no action taken as it was a federal holiday. Procedure was discussed.

The tax collector mailed out tax bills and handed out to residents their bills on Sept. 6. These taxes are due Sept. 30 and interest after Oct. 1. Tax bills have never been this late in my memory, nor this high. Ours has more than doubled.

Mr. and Mrs. John Arata of Wintrop, Maine and Doris Fontaine of Saco, Arthur Bernier and Tama Dunkin of Woburn, Mass., were guests of the Ray Berniers over the holiday weekend. They also visited other relatives and friends in town.

Margaret Mitchell, Roland and Arline Bernier attended senior citizen dinner in Andover and went on to Rumford and Bethel for several errands.

A beautiful but cool morning this Wednesday morning. No frost here as yet and hope it holds off a while longer. I am sorry for those who have already had a frost hit their gardens. It is no fun to labor all summer to have a garden only to have it taken before things get ready to be harvested. That makes one wonder if it is worth the while to plant and cultivate all summer. Have had shell beans to freeze and yesterday did a little corn. Broccoli has come along to be frozen as well as string beans to can. Still have more to take care of soon. And what would the fall be without the smell of pickles? Got to make at least one batch and won't put in so much sugar as usual this year. We try to keep away from sugar all we can because of arthritis. If you go by and smell spicy smells coming from our home you will know I am in the pickle business.

I was at Dr. Shedd's a week ago for a treatment. Dr. Jealous is gone again teaching or something. I have taken over summer squash and zucchini every time I go over for a month or more. They all like such things and as we have had more than we could take care of, we have given a lot away. Hope everyone has enjoyed them.

Went to town on Friday to get groceries and do errands that needed doing. Peggy was elsewhere so Russell and I went to do the weekly errands. Friday night was dance night for Peggy. She went with friends from Bethel and they went to Mechanic Falls dancing. Had a good time as usual.

I expected Peggy to go dancing Saturday night but she didn't. Russell was not up to going so she came down and we played tricones for awhile.

Charlotte Cole called on Sunday and we played "88," a card game, for most of the afternoon. It was a lot of fun. Russell gave Charlotte zucchini, summer squash and cukes to take home with her. She makes a lot of pickles and wanted the large cukes for that purpose.

Monday night was Grange at Bryant Pond and as we were having supper before the meeting we had to make casseroles to take. I made one of my zucchini casseroles to take and Peggy made a casserole also. We had quite a crowd there for the meeting.

It was installation of officers for Franklin Grange, West Paris Grange and Rumford Grange, therefore we had quite a large number for the supper. We wondered if we had enough for all as they kept coming but guess all got what they wanted for supper.

It seemed good to see the bell as full as it was for the meeting. The installation was performed by Wayne Sherman and helpers and they did a fine job. It can be quite a chore to do a triple installation but this is the way it has been done for our Grange for several years, so was not new. I had the chance to sit back and watch this year as I was not voted to be an officer. It seems good sometimes to sit back and watch others though I always like to help in any way I can.

Peggy was put in as Lady Assistant Steward again and Russell was put on the Executive Committee.

I was given a 1500 piece puzzle to put together and it has taken me several days to accomplish it but got the last pieces in last night. It is a beautiful picture when put together but am sorry there is one piece missing. That leaves a hole that should be filled and can't be. I have had two more puzzles given to me to do. One is a 500 piece one and shouldn't take long and the other is a 1000 piece one and they usually don't take me very long but this one has quite a mixture of colors so may be a little harder than some. The shape of the pieces has a lot to do with how hard a puzzle is to do. The large one I just did was a doozy where that was concerned. So many pieces looked alike in shape and color that it made it hard to find the right piece one was looking for. That makes it more of a challenge to do.

We miss Tom more than I can say. It was so nice to have him home for a visit but wish he were here all the time. Others have said how nice it was to have him call and visit while home. He didn't get to do that.

to see everyone but did get around as much as he could. He can't drive at night now because of eye trouble so was home evenings and we had a good time playing cards or whatever we decided to do. Hope he doesn't stay away too long before coming home again.

I have a number of people ask how I make my zucchini casserole and would like to give you a brief recipe of it. I take a medium sized onion and cube it into a large fry pan. Mine is a 12 inch, at least two inches deep if not more, and holds a lot anyway. I saute the onion till it is most done, add sliced zucchini (two medium ones) and let cook. While this is cooking, I get ready the other ingredients of half a can to a whole can of mushroom or celery soup (tomato soup can be used either), half to three-fourths cup cubed cheese, cubed meat of some type such as ham, beef or pork, canned or left over from cooking it myself. Sometimes I use hamburger. I also add cooked vegetables such as carrots, peas, string beans or corn; even have added rice or potato I have had on hand. A cup or less of each. When the zucchini is cooked, add the soup, meat and cheese and let it melt then add the vegetables and whatever you want for spices. Mix, put into casserole dish and top with toasted bread crumbs or cubes or I use corn flake crumbs for a topping. Bake at 350 for about a half hour to let the different tastes blend together. Russell will tell you it is delicious and the way he eats it proves it to me. Try it.

Take care everyone and have a good week. Watch out for children waiting for buses and be sure to stop for them. The children are our future nation.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

LOOKING BACKWARD

10 Years Ago: The Maine Job Service opened an office in the Bethel Savings Bank on Friday, with hours of 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Over 30 people gathered at the Dr. Moses Mason House meeting room to hear Isaac Russell's plans for his service to Oxford County. At the 14th annual meeting of the Bethel Historical Society officers elected included Catherine Newell, president; Donald Bennett, vice president; Edith Eddy, secretary and clerk of the trustees; Louise Lincoln, treasurer; trustee for three years, Margaret Joy Tibbitts. Slides of old photographs made during the past year followed the business meeting.

Marrriages: Alan S. Remington and Donna M. Grover; John R. Mason and Tracy Bell.

Deaths: Ruth Bean Grover.

20 Years Ago: Marie Gunther and Mabel Stanley observed a large bull moose in the corner of Dr. Hudson's pasture while sitting on their front porch. Rangeley District Scouts were holding a camping demonstration on the Bethel Common. Richard and Eulah Stevens were tendered a surprise housewarming at their new home on the Middle Intervale Road. A Canadian National Railroad train consisting of over 20 cars stopped at Bethel on its return trip from Montreal. Some 900 Maine Shriners and their wives traveled by train to Montreal for the Northeast Shrine Convention.

Births: Dennis F. Willard, Tanya F. Howe, Anne Marie Penner, Scott Alvin Stevens.

30 Years Ago: Oxford County Fair Association listed 1,200 entrants registered in the exhibition hall. Dutch Elm Disease was found in Bethel for the second succeeding year. The total cost of construction of the Northwest Bethel Road was reported by Town Manager Harold Bean as $3,325, exclusive of applying asphalt surface. The 1½-story home of Cleve Waterhouse, on Grover Hill, was completely destroyed, with all contents, by fire. It was formerly known as Cobblestone Farm. Norman Ferguson, Sr., of Hanover, was named finance chairman of the Oxford County Republican Committee.

Marrriages: Johnny Wesson and Arlene Coolidge; W. Wright Flavin and Anne Eleanor Fleck.

Deaths: Ida P. York, George L. Haines, Mary Greig, Chester Ladd, Rodney Grover.

40 Years Ago: Arrangements were made by the Bethel Village Corporation for a dumping site at the gravel pit of Leon Millett on the Songo Pond Road.

Joyden Keddy was awarded the James Gordon Bennett Prize in government by Harvard University for an essay on "United States Policy for Franco Spain." Gould Academy had an enrollment of 270 on opening day, with 100 being boarding students. The farm buildings of Otho Buck, near West Paris, were totally destroyed by fire, which originated in the large barn. Mr. Buck managed to save a pair of horses, but lost a bull and calf and the entire contents of his house.

TOUGH DEFENSE—Telstar defender Teague Berry rejects a Carrabec foray in soccer action last week, as Nathan Brown, Scott Emery, Nate Emery and Tim Chapman follow the play. Telstar's early offensive thrusts carried them to a 5-2 victory. The Rebels' record going into this week's play stands at 1-2.

Girls strong, boys scarce— Rebel harriers hit the trail

The Telstar cross-country team opened the season with a win, defeating Jay and Mt. Abram by a score of 31-49-49. Scorers for Telstar were Solai Buchanan, first; Kelly Hayes, second; Terri Applin, eighth; Kristen Powell, tenth; and Mary Newell, 11th. Strong performances were also turned in by Angie Applin, Esther Finch and Michelle Conkright.

Nathan Miserochchi and David Foster were third and 21st, respectively, in the boys race. There was no team score. The final results for Rebel runners were as follows:

For the boys, though, it was another story. Unable to field the required five runners, the boys' finished without an official score—despite a strong second-place finish by the team's top runner, Nathan Miserochchi.

"I'm quite optimistic about the girls' team," said Coach John Applin, "but unless I get some more numbers on the boys' side it will be just a few guys running individually."

"The girls' team is young and very talented," the coach said. "They should be right in the thick of it by the end of the season."

Solai is a sophomore who broke out of the pack as a long distance runner during the spring track season. And Kelly, according to her coach, should challenge hard for the first-place spot once she rounds into mid-season form.

Behind them, returning lettermen Angela Applin and Michelle Conkright, along with newcomers Kristin Powell, Terri Applin and Mary Newell should all contribute to a strong team showing.

"The battle for first place on the boys' side is no contest. Senior Nathan Miserochchi took over the number one spot last season and is not looking back."

Telstar's cross-country skiing MVP for the past three years, Nathan spent the summer in rigorous training for the upcoming nordic season. "This cross-country cross training should propel him to the front of the pack in time for the state championships in late October."

Coach Applin is looking to Dave Foster for high-level consistency, and he knows he can count on a gutsy effort from veteran Todd Posey.

Nonetheless, he acknowledges he needs a few more fast bodies if the boys' squad is to be competitive.

"We've got some prospects," he said. "If we get them now we'll still have time to get them into shape."

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Whereas our Heavenly Father has called our beloved sister, Lillian Lovejoy, from earthly duties to the Great Grange above, and whereas she will be greatly missed by the members of Pleasant Valley Grange #136, extend our sincerest sympathy to the bereaved family.

Resolved that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon our records; a copy be sent to the "Bethel Oxford County Citizen" to be printed therein and a copy be sent to the family of our beloved sister as a token of our sympathy.

Friday morning I went out early to take the cat down to Hudson's before we have more than the five kittens underfoot. Of course, we had to wait before taking her as the kittens had to be able to eat by themselves so now I never know where I will find one of the five. They are as cute as can be playing together and do enjoy their antics but enough is enough. It was very foggy driving down this morning as it has been most mornings.

Ernest and Alberta Angevine went to the Buckfield Community Day Sunday. Christopher Laban left for U of M, Orono, Sept. 4 for his senior year and Matthew Laban left the third for U of NH in Durham. They are the sons of John and Sue Laban.

Alan Chapman was at his parents', Frank and Ida Chapman's for a wedding recently after doing a lumberjack's show in Pennsylvania. He then went to visit Louise and Allison Chapman who have moved to Ridgeway, Va., from Locke Mills. Allison is going to Community College and Louise will be teaching. Alan will then leave for Oklahoma City for a lumberjack's show in which he will be participating for a month.

Howard and Macell Chapman and son Nick, went to Moosehead for the long weekend.

Joyce Stearns has had green steel roofing put on the eel of the Stearns' house. Danny Gibbs and Don Bean did the work.

September 3, Dr. Leonard Shaw, Becky, Jon and Jen went to Dresden to her sister's, Martha and Glenn Bangs and family. Saturday, the 2nd, the Shaw family went to Becky's brother's, David and Jody Keniston and family in Norway. Richard, Lauren Packard and family were also there. Richard and family were flying out of Boston the next day for California. Richard is son of the late Frank Packard and Elaine Packard Weston.

Heldi Glines came for the long weekend to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rollie Glines.

Sept. 2 and 3, Gerry Shimamura went to Nazarene Labor Day campmeeting at Washington Pond in Washington.

Gerry Shimamura, Walter and Carolyn Bond, who were here for the long weekend, took Thelma Merrill, who is at Ledgeview Nursing Home, out for ice cream and then to Thelma's grandson's, Billy Shimamura and family, Crockett Ridge, Norway. Also visiting Thelma at the nursing home were her other grandson, Jody Shimamura and children, Ben and Catlin.

Dick and Grace Douglass went to Lancaster, N.H., fair, Sept. 3, with Dick's two ponies. Dick won some ribbons.

George and Betty Gilbert were at Cup-sippo campgrounds near Oquossoc Sept. 2-5. The campground owners had one night a gathering of all the campers who wished to come. They cooked a whole pig in a pit and furnished corn. The campers each brought whatever they wanted so it was like a large barbeque potluck.

Jim and Sue brought our granddaughter, Heather, up Aug. 31, to spend some time as Sept. 1 was Jim's birthday and also Jim and Sue's 10th wedding anniversary. The first, Heather and I went to Red Top to pick up Kristin Kutchen and then we went to Berlin, N.H. Our other granddaughter, Theresa Gibson, came home with Frank that same night.

Seeing we had the five boys, it was very different having the three girls. The 2nd, Jim and Sue picked up Heather and as they wanted to get some work done on their home in Freeport, Frankie took the other two girls back. The 3rd, George, Barbara Bethel and son George of East Bethel and Barbara's aunt and uncle from Connecticut came for a visit. The 4th Dick Chapman of Harrison came for most of the morning. The 5th Frankie brought Karen and Sarah Page up to see the kittens and the 6th I went into town and visited Kathy Hanscom.

Ira and Kristin Gibson went to Rangeley the third and spent the night with Bobby and Eddie Pevear.

Bethel

Mrs. Hilda Donahue and Howard spent last week visiting Mrs. Donahue's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Kichon in Woburn, Mass. While there they attended a Red Sox game and visited friends in North Easton, Mass. Hello from the deep sunny south, Fort Myers, Fla. Arlene Gunther, who spends her winters in Fort Myers, on the tropical and ever popular "Winslow Reservation," is presently at her summer residence in beautiful mountainous Bethel. We continue to receive this informative newspaper, The Oxford County Citizen (often lovingly referred to as "The Bethel Belly Ache") in her absence. We are particularly fond of reading the day to day observations recorded in various communities.

We would like to share some of the experiences of our daily lives here in Florida in hopes that Arlene can keep abreast of the "Happenings" in the south while she remains in the north. We also hope that all of those who are reading this paper will step momentarily into south sunny Florida for the next few paragraphs.

The sun (like always) is sparkling brightly—creating smiles, buns, and our average 86 degree temperatures, along with a light cooling rain almost every day. The waves continue to splash the glistening seashore creating the perfect white sand for sand castle building by bikini clad tourists. The pearls while seashells continue to line the beaches. The orange trees are budding in preparation for a bountiful winter harvest.

As far as the "Winslow Reservation" goes, (So named for its remote location and high level of activity), Buck cut down another bunch of bananas (and is considering buying an airplane—look out). Mary Ann continues to pick at her gaffer. David and Sarah began their first day of school—complete with trapper keepers and bright shiny new clothes. Judy and Wayne made a visit from Miami. JoAnn finished re-decorating David's room. Johnny is now driving an 18 yard dump truck for Art. Janet and Tom hope to move into their newly built first home. Sheena and Odie sit at Arlene's door waiting for her return. (Love that Johnny Cake!) Bubba has been clipped and shaved. Rick has a new girlfriend (looks serious). Mike is doing about the same. Jerry is seriously considering buying a white Corvette. Cecilia has sold her home and is ready to move. There was a 50's sock hop after the Friday night Western dance this past week with approximately 1,000 in attendance. They started organ music every Sunday night at the Roller Rink. And the new swimming pool has opened at San Carlos Park.

ALEX LEGAULT AND LEON SIMMONS, of Andover, restorers of automobiles, stand beside their 1967 Camaro and 1956 Chevy truck, both of which are up for sale.

There is a whole lot more "Happenings" in south sunny Florida and we hope some of you get down to see it some day. As far as Arlene Gunther—we love you, miss you.

WITH REBELS SWARMING ALL AROUND the Livermore Falls goal, Crystal Chase takes a shot on goal. Although this shot didn't go in, the home team scored three goals to none for the visitors for a well-deserved victory in the season-opening game last Wednesday.

Telstar field hockey opens season with two wins

The Rebel field hockey team overpowered Livermore and Lisbon as their season began.

In the varsity game against Livermore, the scorer was Kristin Delano, who scored in the first four minutes of the game. As the second half almost came to an end Kris Delano scored again with five minutes left on the clock. But the excellent never ended as Jenny Bailey hit a hard driven ball assisted by Mary Beth Hannon. The front line passed especially well as the defense kept the ball out of their territory.

The J.V. team came into the first half ready to win, as it showed by the constant pressure at Livermore's goal by the Telstar forward line. Succeeding almost every time as the score was 7-0 (Telstar). Goalie Danielle did not touch the ball once, due to great defensive playing by the Rebels. Scoring for the Rebels were Melvyn Patten and Lynne Buckingham, who scored two goals for the Rebels. As Crystal Chase finished the game with four more goals.

During the Varsity game with Lisbon, Shilo Hutchins, with an assist by Kris Delano, drove the ball to get the first goal of the game. But her power never ended as she drove two more goals assisted by Kris Delano and Amy Hannon. The forward line did a superb job at dribbling the ball down the field and passing. The Rebel defense was as powerful as ever as they drove the ball forcefully up field.

So. Woodstock

By OLIVE R. DAVIS

Esther and Olive Davis were in Bridgton Friday. They called on Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews.

Patty Tibbitts had dinner with her mother Esther Davis Sunday. Those attending the triple installation at Bryant Pond from this way were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brooks, Olive Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pelt, Florence Gutfanson, Lucille Robbins, Kay Billings. There was a big turn out, 71 attended the meeting.

Some places had a frost this week in their gardens. I suppose it is that time but it seems early for cold weather just yet.

The Tri-Town calendars are coming out. Clara Wilson will have some for sale if you want one, call her.

The Rebels ended with a 3-0 victory over Lisbon.

Amy Laban started the scoring for the J.V.'s four minutes into the first half. Lynn Buckingham scored the next two, with an assist by Becky Hunt. Crystal Chase finish the first half with one and opened the second half with another. Lynn Buckingham put in number six to make it a 4-0 game. Dani Bernier had one save in the goal cage.

Tri-Town Rescue

An open house is planned for Sunday, Sept. 17, at the rescue barn from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., for anyone interested in seeing the facilities or the new ambulance.

The open house coincides with state Emergency Medical Services Week. Light refreshments will be served. Everyone is welcome to stop in and see the facilities and talk with Tri-Town members. Anyone interested in training may find out more details at the open house. Both an ambulance attendant course and an EMT course will be offered this fall at Norway.

Training last month was a mock crime scene in West Paris. The entire session was videotaped for future use by the Oxford County Sheriff's Department and area rescue squads. Special thanks to Murad Sayen, Lt. Jim Mielon and Cpl. Gary Hill for their help with the scene and the taping.

Search and rescue will meet Sept. 18 at the rescue barn to discuss SAR policies and procedures.

The spaghetti supper was postponed to Saturday, Sept. 23, from 5:30 to 7 p.m. at the Trap Corner rescue barn. The spaghetti will be supplemented with an array of salads, cole slaw, and homemade pies for dessert.

Mahosuc Arts Council elects new officers

The Mahosuc Arts Council took on a new organizational status as a slate of directors was approved on Sept. 7 in accordance with the Arts Council's by-laws.

Mary Gillies was elected to fill a one year term as the Council's chairperson. Other board positions filled at Thursday evening's meeting are as follows: vice president, Carolyn O'Brien, two year term; treasurer, Gordon Gillies, one year; secretary, Joan Wiese, one year; fundraising chair, Wende Gray, three years; and programming chair, Jean Bass, three years.

The Board also approved the nominations of Marquette G. Cham and Vicki Rackliffe to serve as executive directors. They will be responsible for overseeing the Arts Council's programs and activities in the SAD #44 schools and community, and they will help to coordinate the Council's fundraising activities.

Mary Gillies gave the Board an update on the Council's non-profit status. The Council should be receiving a non-profit tax identification number in October. Once that is established, the Council will receive grant funding from the Betterment Fund to support the executive director's position and provide for office equipment.

Gould Academy has provided the Council with office space and furniture in the Bingham facility. In exchange for this space, the Council will be responsible for planning and coordinating the Academy's Thursday evening Performing Arts Series. Since performing artists reduce their fees substantially when they are to do more than one performance in a given community, the Council will be able to provide quality programs for the SAD #44 schools and community at reduced rates.

Mrs. Graham announced that the Mandala Folk Dance Ensemble will return to Bethel to perform in the Telstar auditorium on Saturday, Nov. 18. The Mandala Dancers were the first group that the Arts Council sponsored back in 1986. Since then the Mahosuc Arts Council has sponsored 28 school assemblies and workshops, two artist in residence programs and nine community performances thanks to generous donations from the individuals and businesses in the Bethel area.

In her financial report, Mrs. Rackliffe told the Board that the Council will continue to seek grant funding for school and community programs from the Maine Arts Commission, L.A. Arts and the New England Foundation for the Arts; however, it was stressed that the bulk of funding support for the Arts in Bethel has come from individual and business contributions to the Arts Council.

The Council's annual fundraising event, the Hike/Walk/Run at Sunday River, is scheduled for Oct. 7 at 9:30 a.m. Mrs. Gillies reported that there have been an increased number of race sponsors, which are as follows: Boise Cascade, Crispairs, Gould Academy, Groan and McGurn, New Balance Shoes and Sunday River Ski Resort.

The Council will once again offer 100 percent cotton long sleeved shirts to the first 100 race registrants. Groan and McGurn is printing the shirts with an original race design by Vicki Rackliffe. The race committee is urging families to register for this fundraising event to help support funding for programs in the arts for the SAD #44 schools and community. Registration forms are available at Prim's or by calling 824-2808.

Agnes Gray School

By MARTA CLEMENTS

Another school year is off to a busy start. The first day of school for students was Thursday, Aug. 31, following three workshop days for all faculty and staff. Much curriculum work had been accomplished over the summer, and meetings with each subject coordinator brought everyone up to date concerning what was to be expected this year.

The main workshop of the day was presented by Bruce Wellman of Science Resources in Lincoln, emphasizing hands on and heads on for science. Mr. Wellman's knowledge and enthusiasm was catching, and we are looking forward to tackling science with a renewed appreciation.

Our keynote speaker, Dr. Russell Quaglia, of the University of Maine also encouraged and inspired us with his talk on Teacher Aspirations. If we want our students to have high aspirations, we must also.

Dr. Susan Torrey of Stephens Memorial Hospital spoke to us on the issue of AIDS. She presented the facts in a professional manner and emphasized the importance of education in regard to this disease.

New faculty members were introduced. There are only two changes at West Paris, and one really isn't a change. Mrs. Howes will be teaching two sessions of kindergarten instead of one. Mrs. Nanette Constant will be teaching art at our schools. The art program has expanded and all our students will be having an art period once a week.

The first date for parents to write on their calendar is for our annual Open House. It has been set for Thursday, Sept. 14, from 6:30-7:30 in the evening. We will be having a book fair from Sept. 13-19 and books will be available during the Open House. We encourage parents to attend the Open House to meet each teacher and to learn what is to be expected during this school year. Only one parent conference is scheduled for this school year and that is not until Feb. 5. So, please attend the Open House if possible.

New students enrolled at this writing are David Hamphill and Melissa Martin, Grade 2; Laura Strout and Jennifer Teeple, Grade 4. The kindergarten students who are brand new to school in the morning session are: Andrew Davis, Joel Davis, Kyle Dwyer, Jessica Duplisse, Devin Edwards, Thomas Espinosa, Jamie Foster, Amanda Green, Savannah Hamel, Kathleen Holden, Kyle Kilgore, Christopher Knox, Raymond MacGregor, Sabrina Martin, Linsey Record, Crystal Saleh, Jacob Treadwell, Katherine Tucker, Kenneth Willoughby and Rusty Young. Afternoon kindergarten are: Bray Adkins, Tia Bean, Steven Bennett, Benjamin Blake, Andrew Cook, Devin Coffin, Jason Emery, Krystal Farris, Joseph Hakala, John Hatch, William Kangas, Danielle Knight, Mark Lescoult, Jr., Kathleen Robertson, Crystal Seidel, Walker Shattenberg, Donald Sheard III, Jonathan Stevens and

PICK UP ON SOCCER THIS FALL

Fall and soccer go hand-in-hand. Adult education is offering Sunday soccer, starting Sept. 10, for six weeks at 'Oldstar High School, 1-3 p.m. If you're a parent who has been a spectator too long, a former player or just interested in the sport, come join us. It will be pick-up soccer and teams will vary week to week.

Christopher Stoehner. Welcome to all, both old and new. We are looking forward to new activities and projects as well as many that have proven successful in the past. Next week I will begin with news from individual classrooms.

By DORIS C. LAWRENCE

We sure have had some gorgeous weather lately.

Sept. 1 congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Zillingwood on observing their 60th wedding anniversary at Lodgeview Nursing Home. Lila is a patient there. Quite a few of the family were there.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Spenser and family from Massachusetts had as guests at their trailer on the Trask Road James, Stephen and Sarah Niemas from Massachusetts.

Blanche Brown and Mildred Anderson from Connecticut are spending several days visiting Joe Kalinowski at his farm. Sunday, Sept. 2, Evelyn Chamberlain had a family gathering at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reidy from Massachusetts are at their trailer on the Trask Road for several days.

A Community Club meeting was held Wednesday evening at the hall. The next supper will be Sept. 30 with gingerbread and real whipped cream.

Saturday, Sept. 30, there will be a dance at West Paris Grange Hall for the ramp fund. The Parisians will be playing, so come and enjoy the good music.

Wednesday the Lawrences took Mr. and Mrs. Cleon Pinkham to the Country Way for smorgasbord lunch. The Pinkhams leave Sept. 9 for the Philippines as missionaries. We shall miss them.

Callers here have been Mr. and Mrs. Roger LaCroix, who installed a new flush; Joe Vatcher, Joe Kalinowski, Lena Dean, Darcy Robertson, Norma Reidy, Odell Heath, Blanche Brown and Millie Anderson, Connecticut.

The Nathan Isaacs had as guests over the weekend, son, Roger Young and wife.

By HELEN SALWAY

Sunday Nettie Fitzherbert hosted a combination birthday party for her three grandchildren. Heather Levy turned four, Thomas turned 3 and Steve turned 2. A cookout of hamburgers, hot dogs and salads started the party off with presents and a birthday cake following. Mr. Freeman, great grandfather of the three kids, spent the day with them. Visitors dropping in to help them celebrate were Marie and Brian Freeman, Wendy Ellis, Binms, Butch Glover, Helen and Lyne Salway, Dora Morton, Mr. and Mrs. Scott.

Young Joe Hall lost control of his car and wrapped it around a tree down by Don Smith's over the Labor Day weekend. No injuries were reported.

There were a couple of break-ins in town Tuesday night: Leon Akers' Ski Shop and Steve Swasey's home. Several items were reported missing.

Marge Stinson hosted a back-to-school coffee last week for several women in the area.

Ruth and Rod Sidelinger with Gail Dolloff and family have moved to Florida.

Aug. 31 Cindy Towle and Jane Neadeau hosted a bridal shower for Cindy's daughter, Heidi Porter. Heidi is engaged to Bob Neadeau and will marry on Sept. 9 at the Mexico church. Gifts were opened and admired. A cake decorated in blue, yellow and pink was served with sandwiches and pastries. A door prize of a Victorian lace pillow was given to Nellie Howard and games were enjoyed later.

Attending were the hostesses, Jane and Cindy, Agnes Porter, Joy Porter, Nellie Howard, Cindy Gammon, Amelia Richards, Yvonne McCafferty, Evelyn Bell, Judy McLeod, Tammy Hughes, Penny Latham, Janis LeClair, Jennifer Towle, Colette Beaulieu, Theresa Stevens, Rita Beaulieu, Valerie Richard, Dolly Jones, Shannon Jones, Susan Jones, Grandma Neadeau, Louise Kaulback, Beth Neadeau, Alice McCafferty, Helen Salway, Ginny Howard, Joan Umbrö. Sending gifts but not able to attend were Mr. and Mrs. David MacDonald and Karen, Shirley Gammon.

THE BIG APPLE STORE, on Railroad Street, Bethel, is now open for business and fully stocked with necessities and convenience foods. It is located at the former Charlie's Gulf, which is now owned by Ripley & Fletcher. Shelley Rice and Barbara Binette are two of the employees of the store. The conversion of the former gas station office was done by Bent Nail Construction Co. of Bethel.

CREATIVE CRAFTS COURSES

The SAD #44 Adult and Community Education program will offer several courses during the fall term which will allow participants to express their creativity through a variety of crafts. Hand quilting, machine quilting, knitting and rug braiding are among the many courses offered this fall.

Hand quilting, on Wednesdays starting Sept. 27, will provide beginning quilters with the opportunity to make a wall hanging and learn the basic techniques of patchwork, applique and hand quilting under the expert eye of Catherine Gale, of Dixfield. Mrs. Gale has taught quilting for many years in area programs and is active in local and regional quilting groups. Most recently she has taught a daytime class in SAD #44 Adult and Community Education and the change to evening will allow a new group the opportunity to learn from her experience. Machine quilting allows students to produce quilts using many clever time-saving techniques from cutting, to piecing, to construction using a sewing machine. Donna McCarragher will use the lecture-demonstration method which will feature weekly assignments, resulting in a finished product at the end of five weeks. The first machine quilting section will feature the Amish Roman Stripe pattern and will meet on Wednesdays starting Sept. 13.

Knitting is a perennial fall and winter favorite, and Amy Farrar will again be instructing those desiring to learn to knit or to move on to more advanced techniques in a class on Wednesdays, starting Sept. 20 at the Yarnery Knitting Shop on Church Street in Bethel.

Rug Braiders will have the choice of day or evening classes, with the afternoon section meeting with Sally Rollinson at the Hammons House Bed and Breakfast in Bethel on Tuesdays starting Sept. 19, and the evening section meeting on Thursdays at Teletar with Bessie Giddings, of West Paris. Both classes feature laced braided wool rugs.

To enroll in these or any other fall term classes, call the Adult and Community Education office, 824-2780.

Newry

By AMY HANSCOM

The Sept. 5 meeting of the Newry Ladies Circle was opened by the President, Olive Anderson at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Sylvia Wight who led the devotion. Freda Robertson led the roll call and eight members were present. As secretary-treasurer, Freda read the minutes of the last meeting and gave the Treasurer's Report which were both accepted as read. Sylvia Wight, the Church Treasurer gave her report which was read and accepted. Members were again reminded to write a paragraph to Polly and Jim Browne, our missionaries, to be incorporated in a large letter to be sent them from the circle. Cindy Moxcey read aloud their letter to us. Motion was made and seconded we send our annual contribution in full at this time instead of waiting until November. There will be no food sale in November as we had one in August. The next meeting will be at Cindy Moxcey's on Oct. 2. She will present a film of Newry taken by her daughter, Marcia. After adjourning the meeting refreshments were served and the drawing for the quilt made by Sylvia Wight and Freda Robertson was held and was won by Jodi Wilson who held ticket number 389.

Mr. and Mrs. Verne Glover of Hollis Center spent the holiday weekend at the old Hanscom homestead and went to visit Amy and Roger at the Cozy Inn Nursing Home Monday. Amy's room number is 25 and Roger's is P3. If anyone wishes to send cards or visit them the hours are 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Brian Hanscom called on Ruth and Arthur Cummings last week. Mrs. Theresa G. Toti of Harrisville, R.I., spent the holiday with her Aunt Gil Seelye.

Louise Tetley and Gil Seelye will keep Amy's column going while she is recuperating. Anyone who wishes to contribute some news may contact either Louise or Gil.

Louise Tetley and Gil Seelye went to see Amy and Roger Monday afternoon and found them in good spirits and looking forward to coming home in a few weeks.

The ladies of Newry who went bowling Wednesday, Sept. 6, in Rumford were:

Bears have been spotted on Route 28 between the corner going north, also a few deer with their young.

There will be no service at the Newry Church on Sept. 17. Rodney Hanscom and family will be on vacation.

Susan Lee of Watertown, N.Y., visited her father, Warren Powers, recently. Helen Cook rode back to Geneva, N.Y., with Susan and visited her daughter and family.

Freda Robertson and her daughter and son-in-law, Winona and Ray Barker of Andover, were in Lincoln visiting Freda's grandson, Ralph Thurston Jr., at his camp over the weekend.

Bill and Sylvia Wight attended two weddings on Sept. 2 in Dixfield and Farmington.

Catherine Donnelly of North Newry, Ireland, was the house guest of Bill and Sylvia Wight while visiting Newry, Maine.

August 28, Sue Wight and granddaughter, Seneca Brooke, celebrated their birthdays with Owen Wight, Randy and Audrey Brooke and Amber. Also attending were Susie Bowie, Chris and Jennifer. Cakes were made by Susie Bowie and Audrey Brooke.

WYMAN REUNION IN ANDOVER

Sunday, Sept. 3, was a festive occasion for four generations of the Wyman family. Descendants of John Merton Wyman and Florence Wyman congregated at the home of Pat and Larry Wyman, of Andover.

In an all-day celebration of volleyball, horseshoes, croquet and barbecues, the family reunited, and in some cases met for the first time in 25 years. Many of the 1960s children had children of their own and came to the party as grandparents.

Norway was well represented by Chester and Merlene Thurston and Frances Wyman of Norway Ctr. It was noted that Chester was the eldest at the gathering, being 87 years young, and was presented a small prize.

Donny Wyman and wife Marion, of Ft. Fairfield, shared with Velma Wyman, of Hanover, Mass., the distinction of traveling the farthest for the festivities. Donny's son Rick and his wife Denise presented their son A.J. for many to greet for the first time.

Beverly and Allen Cotton, with daughters Julie and Amanda, arrived from South Paris. Jim and Nancy Knight, of Rumford Pk., were proud to introduce their daughters' new husbands: Stefanie married to Mark Nichols, of Cumberland Ctr., and Jammaly with David Zvald, from Lisbon. Jammaly and David were the proud parents of the youngest member at the clan gathering—Debbie, four weeks old.

Larry's mother Louise, and her husband Max Goldberg, drove up from Massachusetts with Larry's brother Steven and wife Barbara. Brothers Bob and Gregory arrived with their wives, Margie and daughter Lauren and Tricia with daughters Tanya and Melissa, respectively.

Barbara and Francis Noble, of Bridgton, had a hectic and full day as they attended the reunion for half the day and then proceeded on to a wedding.

With so many members of the family together, an eight-foot by 10-foot curtain was nailed to the barn door and throughout the day people were encouraged to write in their branch of the family tree.

Someone, somewhere during this beehive of activity, games, conversation and three-grill cooking, decided that this was going to happen again in 1992.

Camping at Cathedral Pines in Stratton/Eustis for the long holiday weekend were Vance and Connie Bacon; Stanley and Maxine Crane; Everett and DelDe Chase and Clyde and Sylvia Knights. Edith Lang and Carmen Hadley joined the campers during the day.

Also spending the long weekend in Stratton were Ann Proctor and Ivan, Jr. Michelle Murch, South Paris arrived on Saturday to spend the rest of the weekend with her grandmother.

William and Sally Berry, Daniel and Ryan, returned home Sunday night after spending the past week in Big Moose, N.Y., with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Davis of Rochester, N.Y.; sister Nancy from Germany and brother Larry.

Vicky Sanborn and Brant, North Conway, N.H., spent the day Monday with her parents and family at camp.

Granite Chapter #115, O.E.S. will honor Past Matrons and Past Patrons at their meeting on Thursday, Sept. 14. There will be a 6 p.m. supper preceding the meeting with Faye Abbott and Frances Haney the supper committee.

GETTING TOGETHER IN ANDOVER recently was the Wyman family. The reunion attracted family members from Massachusetts as well as Maine. The reunion was held at the home of Pat and Larry Wyman.

Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

Autumn comes! Leaf by leaf and tree by tree the forest becomes a hooked rug flung across the hills. But pause by one tree and look. Pick up one leaf and you hold autumn in your hand. From small beginnings these trees grow.

A tiny acorn doing chin-ups on a high branch was snatched by a playful breeze and dropped to the ground below.

"I'll nestle into the warm earth and look at the field of giants," he said.

These old-timers took a scent notice of new-comers, except a few that cast contemptuous glances at him.

A pine, tall and slender, languidly waved a branch in his direction. Pine's unkempt companion wept incessantly because her long unruly locks trailed in the brook at her feet.

"Willow, don't carry on so, just look at that scrawny little up-start over there. Can't you see that he'll never amount to much!"

Little acorn just smiled and snuggled deeper, and fell asleep in his nest.

Rains came and the soothing winds crooned a little lullaby overhead. Then one day an earth worm brushed against him and jarred him into wakefulness. Little acorn yawned and stretched so hard that he burst open and sent out tiny green shoots up through the soil.

"So this is what it feels like to be a tree," he said.

Grow he did! The taller he grew the farther down into the earth he pushed his roots. Now he had carved out a place among other trees but found that growing up was not all fun.

He had his good times and his bad times.

One year an outlaw invaded the composure of the forest. He snapped limbs and branches at random and even uprooted some of the trees. Another time a rain swept through and lingered over the forest for days. When the clouds had emptied themselves of their water burden, the little brook spread out and flowed over the forest floor. The little brook spread out and flowed over the forest floor. The little brook spread out and flowed over the forest floor. The little brook spread out and

An Open Letter to the Taxpayers of Upton, Maine
Did you get your tax bill last week? Some were delivered by hand (why?), others by mail. Was yours doubled? Not an increase of 10%, 20%, 50%—but doubled.
This is to ask you NOT to PAY these new exorbitant taxes. DO NOT give them more money to spend and squander. There will be only a small interest charge if you withhold payment 'till after Town Meeting in 1990. BUT you will prevent and deprive our "officials" of more funds to spend until we can restore a more responsible TRUSTWORTHY government back in control.
Don't pay your tax bill 'till we get a new responsible town government in 1990. OR do as I have suggested previously — have the town de-commissioned and placed under State of Maine control.
We will overcome with your help.
William Wood

Church services will be held at the North Waterford church through September.

The Rev. Janice Wilcox was in town making calls Thursday.

Miss Shirley Grant of Auburn visited her brother, Bob and wife over the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Tripp and his mother, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Heino and Mr. and Mrs. Gross all went to Windham one day recently for dinner at the Sizzlers.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ferris went to Conway, N.H., to a supper and party Saturday night. Frances Grant stayed with their four children.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Heino had for a supper guest Wednesday night the Rev. Bishop Cadigan.

The Dale Nelson family, Mrs. Carolyn Heino and Mrs. Eleanor Nelson attended church services at Lovell Sunday, Sept. 3.

Red Top II coming soon to Locke Mills

The building that once held Jordan's Restaurant in Locke Mills will be opened again soon as a family style restaurant.

Esther Crockett, owner of the popular Red Top Truck Stop on Route 2, in Bethel, and Frank Tutko, head chef at the Red Top, are pooling their more-than-40-years of experience in an attempt to re-establish a family dining tradition in Locke Mills.

In the nearly five years since Jordan's closed its doors, the building has housed The Hofbrau, Sally's and The Village restaurants.

None of these endured, but Ms. Crockett and Mr. Tutko think their reputation and experience will make this latest venture a success.

The two restaurateurs will split the chores of managing the new establishment and much of the work, he said, and they hope to rehire some former Sally's employees.

The Red Top II will serve simple family-style food in a relaxed atmosphere, Mr. Tutko said.

The restaurant will offer breakfast, lunch and dinner and will open at 6 a.m., in order to serve people on their way to work and skiers on their way to the nearby slopes.

Legal assistance available in S. Paris and Rumford

An attorney from Pine Tree Legal Assistance, Inc. will be in South Paris on Friday, Sept. 29, from 2-4 p.m., in a new location at Paris Public Library, 3 Main Street; and in Rumford on Friday, Sept. 29, from 2-4 p.m. in a new location at Rumford Public Library, Rumford Avenue. If you would like to make an appointment to see an attorney on that date, call Pine Tree Legal Assistance at 784-1558.

Pine Tree Legal Assistance is a legal services program serving low-income people who meet income eligibility criteria. It focuses on housing problems, including evictions; problems with public benefits, such as AFDC or General Assistance; as well as utility shut-off matters, special education problems and unemployment problems.

Pine Tree Legal Assistance, Inc. will be in South Paris and Rumford once each month, to serve low-income people in Oxford County.

HOME REPAIR COURSE OFFERED

Home repair and building projects will be the topic of a new course offered as part of the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education program's fall term.

Lloyd Williams, building trades instructor for NOVA, will teach a course for those who have interest in learning the safe use of tools for home repairs, as well as the best techniques for planning projects, estimating costs and materials and methods of construction. Specific projects will be geared to interests of class participants.

To enroll in the course or any other fall term Adult and Community Education courses, call 824-2780.

Rotary Club notes

The Bethel Rotary Club met for its regular weekly meeting yesterday (Tuesday) at the Bethel Inn.

Visiting Rotarians were summer regular Bill Lowther and Rumford club member Oscar Legere. One guest attended the breakfast meeting, George Larson, executive director of the Bethel Area Health Center.

Winner of the 50/50 raffle was Ted Davis, who also gave Rotary information.

President Bruce Powell reviewed correspondence and business conducted by the board of directors at their meeting Monday.

Dan Hart, chairman of the Vocational Service Committee, introduced his committee members: Jim Syko, Ted Davis, Rodney Lynch, Tom O'Meara, John MacMunn, Scott Dennis and Jim Yarnell.

It was announced that Community Service Committee Chairman Jeff Parsons would work on the details of the annual Rotary Pancake Breakfast, scheduled for Nov. 19 at the Gould dining hall.

Dave Probie will again be in charge of the citrus sale, to be held in November with a pre-Christmas delivery date.

Steve Wight, chairman of the Club Service Committee, reviewed, in detail, the procedure for proposing, reviewing and accepting new members into the club, according to Rotary International guidelines.

Jackson-Silver Post meets

Members of Jackson-Silver Post #68 of the American Legion gathered at their Legion Hall at Locke Mills, Thursday evening, Sept. 7, for their first bimonthly meeting of the fall-winter season. The meeting was called to order by Post Commander, Frank York. Reports from various officers were given and matters of correspondence were read and recognized.

Matters of old and new business were discussed and voted upon. Such matters included the pumping of the septic tank, painting the building and janitorial services.

It was voted to purchase a new calculator for the finance officer.

The matter of choosing a "Legionnaire of the Year" was brought up and discussed. It was voted to select a committee to make the choice of appointment.

It was reported that members of the Post received second place at a recent parade in Andover.

One of the most active members of the Post, a past Post Commander, Comrade Charles Mason Sr., is a patient at the Veterans Hospital in Togus. Best wishes are extended by the members of the Post for a quick recovery.

The next meeting of the Post will be Thursday, Sept. 21, at 7 p.m. All members are urged to attend.

YOU AND THE LAW COURSE

You and the Law is the title of an exciting seminar series scheduled for fall by SAD #44 Adult and Community Education and taught by Cheryl Bowmes, J.D., who is associated with Gordon Gillies in the practice of law in Bethel.

Each week of the six week series will cover a different aspect of the law, ranging from criminal law to domestic relations, probate, real estate and consumer practices, and unfair debt collection practices.

Ms. Bowmes is a graduate of Franklin Pierce Law Center in New Hampshire and holds undergraduate degrees in criminal justice and sociology from the University of Southern Maine. She was admitted to the New Hampshire Bar in October of 1985 and to the Maine Bar in April of this year, shortly before joining the Gillies firm.

To enroll in You and the Law or any of the other fall term Adult and Community Education courses, call the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education office, 824-2780.

Cub Scout registration will be next week, more leaders are needed

Bethel Cub Scout Pack #66 will hold its registration day Sept. 18 at Telstar High School cafeteria from 6:30-8 p.m.

Registration Day is for all scouts, new and returning, in Grades 1-5. Cub Scout levels are: Tigers, Grade 1; Wolves, Grade 2; Bears, Grade 3; Webelos is now a two year program for 4 and 5 Grade boys.

Pack #66 has some returning leaders, but with an increase in the number of scouts new leaders will be needed. Anyone interested in helping with this program please register on the same day.

The registration fee for all scouts is $7 and a Boys Life subscription, if desired, is $5.50.

STEP COURSES OFFERED AGAIN

Parents and others who want better communication with children will have the opportunity to participate in a STEP discussion group, as part of the Systematic Training for Effective Parenting offered by SAD #44 Adult and Community Education this fall.

Lorrie Hoeh will return to the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education program leading both Tuesday evening and Thursday morning sections for parents of children from infancy through grade school age. STEP-Teen, a companion program for parents of teenagers will be scheduled later in the year.

The STEP program was offered to over 30 local parents last year with universally positive reactions, according to Adult and Community Education Director Cathy Newell. The program focuses on communication skills and on specific child-training principles and techniques in an atmosphere of positive support.

To enroll in either section, call the Adult and Community Education program, 824-2780.

NOTES FROM

Evans Notch District

White Mountain National Forest

The Evans Notch Ranger District is requesting public comments on a proposed timber sale to be located behind the Gilead picnic area, in Gilead.

The timber harvesting would consist of selective cutting on about 180 acres and a six-acre clearcut. No road building is proposed. The cutting would probably begin this winter.

If you are interested, please contact the district office for further information. Comments are due by Sept. 26. The office is open Monday through Friday, 7 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The phone number is 824-2134.

LEARN TO COOK WITH HERBS

The SAD #44 Adult and Community Education program will introduce a new culinary arts course this fall entitled cooking with herbs.

The course will meet on Monday nights and will be taught by Shirley Hodson, of West Bethel. Students will learn that herb cookery adds zest to the healthful—often bland—low sodium diets recommended today. They will participate in cooking demonstrations, from hors d'oeuvre to desserts featuring a variety of herbal seasonings. Information will be provided about the history and myths surrounding different herbs during the six week class.

To enroll in the cooking with herbs class, call the Adult and Community Education office, 824-2780.
